

Planning and Preparing for an Emergency

Take advantage of all the information that is available, both online or via the media, download it, print it – in case there is a power cut - and keep the information in a safe place. At the beginning of autumn (or when you are aware of a potential emergency developing) review the information to confirm you have the up-to-date information.

You can

- download a copy of all FER details from <http://www.finchampstead-pc.gov.uk/fer/Overview.html>
- find further information at the Wokingham Emergency Response web site at <http://www.wokingham.gov.uk/community-and-safety/emergencies/prepare-for-an-emergency/>
- plan for power outages by visiting the SSE Power Distribution (SSEPD) web site (these are the people that maintain the power lines – no matter from whom you buy your electricity) at <https://www.ssepd.co.uk/Home/> . SSEPD also offer a Priority Service for the elderly, infirm or people with various medical conditions. Find out more (and to register) at <https://www.ssepd.co.uk/PriorityServices/>

If you have additional information that would be useful to others, please email the details to fer@finchampstead-pc.gov.uk.
